

How Employees View Great EX - And How AI Can Help Provide It

Delivering an exceptional employee experience (EX) is now essential for maintaining a full workforce.

While 83% of HR leaders have prioritized EX this year, employees believe there is still significant room for improvement.

Employees are getting antsy

- 47% were tempted to apply for a new job last year
- 49% plan on looking for a new job this year
- 22% want a new opportunity because they don't like their company's culture

Most crucially, 51% of employees rate their company's EX as poor or average.

Your clients would be wise to identify improbable areas to boost talent acquisition and retention.

What your business should focus on (according to employees):

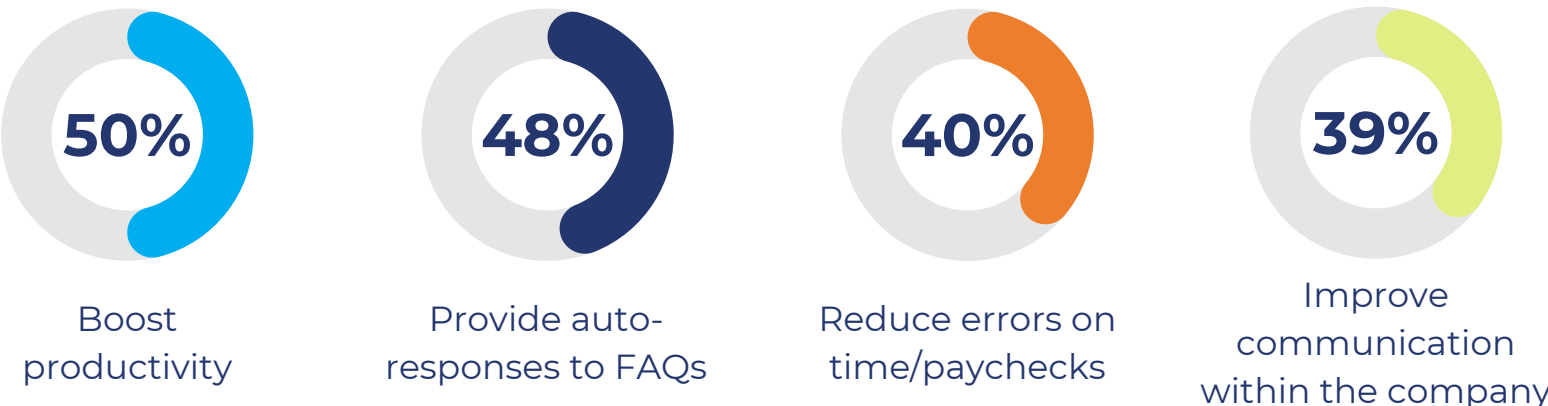

And employees are willing to help employers improve-- 77% are comfortable sharing their personal, anonymized data if it means a better EX.

AI can help

Artificial Intelligence (AI) tools can help you improve EX, and employees are open to the possibilities.

- 68% of employees believe AI will improve EX
- 66% would look favorably on their employers if they used AI to make it happen

Enhance your employee experience by partnering with a forward-thinking, innovative HCM technology company like MP. This collaboration will give you a competitive edge and foster long-lasting, profitable relationships.

Learn more about improving your employee experience with AI tools

Schedule a 15-Minute Consult

